A. PIAMBO AGAIN FREED OF CHARGE

Greenwood Man Turned Loose Once More After Arrest on Warrant Sworn to by Brother of Wallace

JUSTICE FOLLOWS GRAND JURY LEAD

MENDOCINO, Apr. 28.—The preliminary hearing in the case of the People vs. A. Piambo, was held here today before Judge Shaw. Judge Shaw, after hearing the evidence, refused to hold Piambo and he was released from custody.

Dissatisfied with the failure of the grand jury to indict A. Piambo for the killing of Lloyd Wallace at Greenwood last January, William T. Wallace, the dead man's brother, swore out a warrant for Piambo's arrest and the latter was taken into custody at Greenwood by a deputy from the sheriff's office this week.

The killing of Wallace by Piambo at Greenwood last January aroused a great deal of feeling at that place, where sentiment was very strong against Piambo for the brutal death of Young Wallace.

This case was reviewed by the grand jury, during that month, which examined a number of witnesses but did not indict evidently deeming the evidence insufficient to secure a conviction.

On the night of Wallace's death, he, with several others, went to Piambo's place about 10 or 11 o'clock avowedly for the purpose, according to members of the party, to get something to eat. They made considerable racket but Piambo failed to open the door and finally not getting a response, they used a pass key and unlocked a door and entered. Piambo, with another countryman, was up and the former had armed himself with a stick of wood and when Wallace entered the room, he struck him, knocking him down and in all striking him a number of times with the stick rendering him unconscious and producing injuries from which he died a few hours thereafter at his room in the hotel, where he was taken. He never regained consciousness.

Piambo had been apprehended prior to this for bootlegging, having been arrested one or more times and his place had the reputation of being a bootleg joint. The grand jury indicted him on the evidence given for maintaining a bootlegging place and abatement proceedings were initiated.

Since this he has been arrested again on a charge of bootlegging by the sheriff's office.

T. M. Cleland left yesterday for the southern part of the state with Mrs. Alice Harbert, a relative of Mrs. Cleland, whom he is taking to relatives.

Casper Ornbaun, San Francisco attorney, was operated upon for appendicitis in Franklin hospital last week. He is reported improving.

GREENWOOD MAN MAKES ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE LAST MONDAY EVENING

Alfred Slotte Severs Windpipe, Hacks Wrist With Axe in Effort at Self-Destruction

Alfred Slotte, employed as a lumberman in the Greenwood woods, attempted suicide Monday, it is supposed, being discovered in his cabin Tuesday morning weltering in a pool of blood, but still living despite his clumsy attempt at self-destruction.

Slotte started in to cut his throat with a razor, and succeeded in nearly severing his windpipe, but did not cut any of the more important veins and arteries.

Not satisfied with his essay at self-murder, Slotte hacked his left wrist with an ax, cutting practically all the tendons and nearly severing his hand from the arm.

He was taken to the Redwood Coast hospital at Fort Bragg at 1:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and necessary repairs in the way of numerous stitches were made.

It is said that Slotte had been drinking heavily lately and was in a nervous condition bordering upon collapse when he attempted to take his own life.

Chances are good for his recovery.

SUICIDE ATTEMPT MADE BY FT. BRAGG WOMAN

Mrs. Eli Hyman Swallows Lysol in Endeavor to End Life After Home Troubles

FORT BRAGG, Apr. 27.—Mrs. Eli Hyman, who lives on West street in this city, attempted suicide Sunday morning by swallowing about an ounce of lysol.

Dr. Royal Scudder, who was called to attend the woman shortly before noon, found that she had swallowed a considerable amount of the poison, and immediately adopting strenuous measures succeeded in clearing the drug from her stomach.

At present, according to reports, the woman's condition is not regarded as serious, her internal burns being slight, and the principal injuries resulting from her attempted self-destruction amounting to quite severe burns around the mouth and chin.

Questioned as to the cause of her action, Mrs. Hyman refused to make any statement, but rumor has it that domestic disagreements led to her rash impulse to end her life.

She is expected to recover.

TWO CHILDREN HERE WITH BROKEN LEGS

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Rasmussen came over from Navarro last Friday night bringing with them little Jane Peterson, aged about eight years, daughter of Mrs. Roy Hanson, of Caspar. The child was suffering from a broken leg sustained when she was kicked by a mule while on a visit at the Rasmussen home. Mrs. Rasmussen and the child's mother are here with her.

Stepping from the doorstep at her home, little Alice Leonard, a two-year-old child from Laytonville, had the misfortune to break her leg. She was brought here for treatment Wednesday.

MEWHINNEY RANCH SALE PARTED LIFETIME TIES

The sale of the Mewhinney ranch in Potter valley recently marked the severing of ties of almost a lifetime on the part of Mrs. Alice Mewhinney. The ranch had been in the family for over 69 years, having been settled by S. Mewhinney in January, 1858. It was with the utmost regret that Mrs. Mewhinney sold it, after having made it her home ever since her marriage.

THOROUGHBRED BULLS KILLED

Five thoroughbred bulls belonging to H. H. Beard, a well known Spy Rock rancher, have been found shot on the open range in the neighborhood of Spy Rock in the past few weeks. The loss is a heavy one. Sheriff Byrnes spent a portion of the week investigating the shooting but whether it can be pinned on the guilty party remains to be seen.

SLIDE NEARLY WRECKS CAR ON ROCKPORT ROAD

FORT BRAGG, Apr. 27.—Ben Mallory, while taking some men up to the mill at Rockport, had a very close call, day before yesterday, in fact, he is indeed fortunate that he is now alive. While driving up the Hardy creek grade, a big slide came in and completely burried the front end of his car. Big boulders hit all around and on top of his machine. No one was hurt outside of being shaken up.

All travel was blocked until last night. The mail had to be transferred to another car on this side of the slide, sent up by the Coast Line Stage Co. The road has been cleared now and Mr. Mallory left this afternoon to get his car and bring it back here for epairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Krause, of Milwaukee, are here for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. MacKenzie. He and Mrs. Krause are taking in the redwoods, the lakes and other points of interest hereabouts.

JUDGE PRESTON RULES DOG ORDIMANCE VOID

County Enactment in Conflict With State Law, Says Opinion Given Last Friday

In a decision given last Friday in the superior court, Judge H. L. Preston knocked out the county "dog ordinance." The judgment was rendered in connection with the case of the People vs. J. W. Stuttsman, of Hopland. The case was a test case.

Stuttsman was arrested at Hopland and charged with having in his possession a dog without having obtained a license for the animal. The justice at Hopland sentenced him to pay a fine of $100 or serve 30 days in jail. The case was appealed.

In his opinion, Judge Preston reversed the case on the ground that the county ordinance was in conflict with the state law.

The ordinance provides a license fee of $2.00 for males and $2.50 for females, whereas the state law provides a license fee of only 50c for each animal kept. The county ordinance says that any person may, and that the sheriff and his deputies must, kill any dog caught running loose outside incorporated towns which does not carry a license tag on its collar. The state law says that no dog shall be killed or disposed of without notice to the owner, if he be known, and no dog impounded shall be killed until 72 hours have elapsed from the hour of impoundment. The county ordinance provides a fine of not to exceed $100 or 30 days in jail or both for dog owners not taking out a license. The state law provides a fine of not less than $25.00 for first offense and not less than $50.00 or ten days in jail or both for second offense.

CLUB OF MILLIONAIRES BUYS COAST PROPERTY

It is said the price paid was $40,000. The property belonged to the heirs of the late Prince Gray. Additional acreage is also being sought from other parties.

BOOZE RUNNERS MEET WITH HARD LUCK AT FORT BRAGG TUESDAY

Two Oakland Men, Durant Car and 89 Pints of Liquor Taken as Spoils of War

FORT BRAGG, Apr. 27.—Two Oakland men who decided upon Fort Bragg as a promising location for peddling bootleg, now have an apportunity to think the matter over and frame different plans for the future, thanks to the efficient work of our local and county officers; and in the meantime 89 pint flasks of liquor, designed to assuage the cravings of the thirsty throats, are held in the custody of the sheriff's office.

Toivo Kavakka, a native of Fort Bragg, but lately residing in Oakland, pooled his financial resources with Bavo Ganiz, also of Oakland, and the two men invested most of what money they had in bootleg liquor, purchased from an Emeryville wholesaler of illicit booze. Then they proceeded to Fort Bragg in a Durant car, the property of Ganiz.

Arrived here they located at the auto camp, and on Tuesday morning

E. J. SANFORD KILLED BY RANCH EMPLOYEE

Prominent Local Man Shot from Behind by Ralph Weger Following Discharge of Latter from Job

KILLER CALLS JAIL AND SURRENDERS

E. J. Sanford was shot and instantly killed at his home near this city at about 10 o'clock last Friday morning by Ralph Weger, son of Deputy Sheriff Oscar Weger. The tragedy occurred in front of a cabin a few yards to the rear of Sanford's home. From the testimony taken at the coroner's inquest, it appears that Weger, who is about 22 years old, had been working for Sanford. They had had a little trouble on Thursday, and Sanford had told Weger that he did not need his services any longer. That night somebody threw a bottle at Sanford's house, the missile breaking on top of the house. The next morning Sanford went out to the cabin and found Weger in bed. He accused him of having thrown the bottle and also several rocks that had been hurled against the house at various times recently and told him to get off the ranch and not to come back. Weger said he would go and not come back. He then got up and rolled his blankets and packed his effects, piling them at one side of the cabin. He then went to "Shorty" Fisher, a friend, and said he wanted to borrow Fisher's rifle to kill Sanford. Fisher refused to let him have the gun. Weger then went to the Wiley Higgins place and borrowed Higgins' rifle, telling Higgins that he wanted to go hunting.

In the meantime Sanford had come up town to take his children to school and on his return his wife left the premises and went to visit a friend. Sanford was working in the garden alone and evidently had stepped into the shade of a tree near the cabin to rest and cool off. He was standing there when Weger shot him from behind, the bullet striking him in the skull rather low down and to the rear on the right side. He fell with his face toward the house. As soon as the deed was done Weger ran across the fields to Higgins' house and told what he had done. He then called up the county jail and told the officers to come and get him. Meanwhile the body had been found by a Mrs. Mitchell, a neighbor, and at about that time Mrs. Sanford returned and the sheriff's office was notified. Sheriff Byrnes and Deputy Sheriff Weger, the boy's father, went at once to the ranch. The phone call from young Weger to the jail came in after they had left.

Mrs. Mitchell states that she was looking from her house just before the shooting when she noticed young Weger running toward the cabin. He disappeared from her sight behind an obstruction. He did not

The Rambler

On October 15, 1662, John Evelyn said, "Men do not plant trees till they begin to be wise, that is, till they grow old and find by experience the prudence and necessity of it."

* * * * *

All honor and glory to the man who plants a tree.

* * * * *

And Marshal Cleland has planted a great number of trees down in the municipal playground. They were sent over by Fred Handy from the state nursery and a second great step has been taken in parking. The hedge was planted last year.

* * * * *

I don't know how old Mr. Cleland is, but I do know that he is a grandfather. There are those, no doubt, who will scoff at a grandfather planting trees. The coming generations, however, will not scoff. Perhaps forty years hence the name of the man who planted them will have been forgotten, but what of it? The trees will stand as a memorial to the planter, and his vision. What else counts?

* * * * *

An old man traveling a lone highway,
Came at evening cold and grey,
To a chasm with banks so wide and deep,
That many a traveler feared to leap.
The old man crossed in the twilight dim,
The sullen stream held no fears for him;
But he turned when he reached the other side,
And builded a bridge to span the tide.

"Old man!" cried a fellow pilgrim near,
"You are wasting strength in building here;
You never again will pass this way,
Your journey will end with the ending of day.
The bridge you have spent much labor on,
Will serve not you, when the task is done;
You have crossed the chasm deep and wide;
Why build this bridge at even-tide?"

But the builder raised his old grey head,
"Good friend, in the path I came," he said,
"There followeth after me today
A youth whose feet must pass this way.
This chasm which was naught to me,
To the fair-haired youth may a pitfall be;
He, too, must cross in the twilight dim,
Good friend, I am building this bridge for him."

This was a very pleasant week. I had thirteen callers in my garden. They were:

Brown towhee
Bluejay
Quail (valley)
Red headed woodpecker
English sparrow
Golden-crown sparrow
Chestnut-headed sparrow
Green-backed humming bird
Meadow lark
Robin
House wren (red-headed linnet)
Willow canary
Hutton vireo.

I went to the picture show last night and sat in one of the chairs in the balcony. I had not sat up there for sometime for fear of an accident. And the chairs had been repaired and were entirely secure. Thank you, Mr. Roberts.

* * * * *

By the way, "Family Nite" at the theatre might be good business for Tuesday. It would seem, however, that the youngsters should be home in bed to be ready for school the next day. Not so good for business but better for the kids to have it on Friday night. What do you think, Mr. Roberts?

* * * * *

Things don't just happen. Always there has been someone planning, working. Do you take your turn?

* * * * *

It will pay you to go down town some evening to see the house afire in the window of Hopkins & Gibson.

* * * * *

We did not have the wild flower show this year, did we? Oh, well, it would have taken considerable work. You now have another reason why I refuse to buy benefit tickets. With all the organizations we have in town, the work Mrs. Burrey started and so nobly carried on has to stop. What a pity!

* * * * *

I just received a circular from a private school, offering two years of the grades, four years of high school and two years in the junior college. The charge is $1400.00 per year, with books, supplies, bedding, clothing, laundry and a multitude of other items to be paid for in addition. The total would be about $2000.00 a year, or $16,000.00 for the full eight years. Now, why should I go to such an expense and at the same time pay taxes with the rest of the public to maintain the public schools? The fact remains however, that private schools are flourishing, and not because of snobbery either. Those in a position to know are going to see to it that their children get an education.

* * * * *

Let me call attention to the choir from the College of the Pacific. It will be here on May 6. Go, and take the whole family. I know about this unusual organization and assure you that it is a real privilege to have it come to Ukiah.

* * * * *

Great demands are being made upon us for money. Yesterday I received a request for money for the Near East Colleges. Today came one for The Federal Council of Churches, and another for a war memorial for a prominent university. Hardly a week passes without a request for a donation of some nature. And, in addition, there are innumerable local demands. When will we have Rest Week?

"Mother, ain't that a hell of a big elephant?"

"Johnny! How often must I tell you not to say 'ain't?'"

ROUND VALLEY

COVELO, Apr. 27.—Sunday afternoon, the community was shocked to hear of the death by drowning of Church Wilburn, son of Mrs. Fanny Wilburn of Round valley. It seems that he and two companions, the Leggett boys of Nashmead, were crossing Eel river in a row boat, when the oar lock broke, and after drifting for awhile and seeing it was impossible to reach bank in the boat, Church said he would swim to the bank, but after jumping in and swimming a ways he suddenly sank and failed to come to the surface. Wilburn was an expert swimmer and the conclusion is that he was seized with cramps and sank to the bottom. (Sunday being a very warm day, but the water of course was still cold). The body was brought to Covelo, to the home of his mother and funeral services will be held this afternoon at the Reservation M. E. church, Rev. Schillinger officiating.

The family home was formerly at Long Ridge, where some members of the family still live. Relatives from a distance were expected to arrive last night. We have heard no further particulars at this time of the young man's untimely death, but he was well and favorably known in the community and sympathy is extended to the large circle of friends and relatives in their bereavement.

On Friday, Frank Zeek, conductor of the school orchestra, will accompany a group of about fifteen members of these organizations to Santa Rosa, where they will attend the sessions of the contests between the entrants in the annual meet of the Pacific coast high school orchestras. Our group are going as spectators this year with a view of preparing for entrance in 1928.

The mumps have come to town; folks are wondering "who'll be the next?"

Mrs. Ina Hurt Barnes returned to her home in Humboldt county Saturday, after a visit at the home of her father, J. I. Hurt and Mrs. Hurt. She also visited Mr. Barnes' mother, Mrs. Black. Mrs. J. I. Hurt accompanied her home.

Mrs. J. B. Bellatti and Mrs. Truman Lowry visited relatives in Eureka Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Margarite Syric, of San Rafael, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Perry, at the Perry home northwest of town.

At last reports, John Hollingsworth, who was operated on last week, was doing splendidly.

Chas. Gregory, who has been very ill, is much better at this writing.

J. G. Thomas, who has been in the bay region for the past two weeks visiting his family and transacting business, is expected back Thursday.

Will Van Dyke, of Ukiah, was here the latter part of last week, taking care of the protests of the ranchers and others interested, against the proposed entrance of Mendocino county into the Golden Gate brdige district. A large number of the Round valley property owners took steps to withdraw from the district.

The telephone company has purchased the small building that stood on the mill lot and moved it to the lot east of the present office, where it is being fitted up, enlarged and made attractive for a telephone office.

Mrs. Chas. Hurt, who had been confined to her bed for the past two weeks, grew worse Monday and was taken to Ukiah for medical advice. She was accompanied by Mr. Hurt and their daughters, Mrs. Den Brush and Mrs. Ed Long, and Mr. Long and their son, J. I. Hurt and wife. At last reports she was doing nicely and it was thought the symptoms were not serious.

Last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goforth and family enjoyed a most pleasant outing. Taking along a picnic lunch, which they ate on the way, they drove to Willits. Returning they stopped at Laytonville to visit Mrs. Goforth's brother, Scott Martindale, and family. Mrs. Donna Sears, Mr. Goforth's sister, who had been visiting the family for the past week, returned to her home in Willits with them.

Sunday was an ideal summer day and every one who found it at all possible obeyed the call to get "out in the open." There were numerous picnic parties both on the hills west of town and toward the ranger station.

Friday night a merry party of young folks to the number of about twenty congregated at the Tom Hill home. It was an informal affair. They just "dropped in," but they enjoyed a most delightful evening. The youngsters all know they are welcome at any time at this hospitable home.

The most talked of and looked forward to event of the community this week is the May Day picnic under the management of the flower committee of the Woman's Improvement club, which will be held in Albert Brown's grove on Mill creek Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The program will begin at this hour, one of the features of which will be the winding of a growing Maypole by a bevy of girls under the direction of Mrs. Anna Ruch. The prizes in the gardening contest will also be awarded at this time. After the program there will, of course, be a picnic lunch and a general picnicky time.

Inspection of the premises of the contestants will take place Friday, when judges will decide on rankings on the following points: Neatest premises, prettiest flower garden, best vegetable garden, best strawberry bed, and prettiest display of window or porch plants.

Voting for the election of the May queen has been waxing warm and the winning girl will preside in regal glory at the May Day festivities.

Word has just been received that Lawson Anderson, an oldtime Indian of about 65 years of age, passed away last night at his home on the Reservation. Mr. Anderson had been in poor health for some time, suffering with asthma. It is not possible to give any further particulars at this time.

CAMP BEAUTY OPENING ON SATURDAY, MAY 7

The opening of Camp Beauty, the property of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Garaventa on the Redwood highway three miles north of Longvale, is announced for Saturday, May 7. Mr. and Mrs. Garaventa invite their Ukiah friends to the opening. They have established a fine camping place and there will be room to park all cars that come.

A barbecue supper will be a feature of the evening.

The finest of music will be provided for the dance and among the entertainers is George Hildreth, a vaudeville artist from Oakland, with his jazz singers.

Rockport Road Open

The Rockport road is again open to cars as the old road over the hill from Juan to Hardy creek was scraped last Saturday and is in good condition considering that it has been out of use for so long and that the heavy storms this winter have done some damage to it. The road is quite steep in a few places but otherwise it is very good. Since the Hary creek grade around the bluff slid in last winter, Rockport people have been greatly handicapped and the fact that the old road is open, is good news.

Hurt in Woods

Mrs. Chamberlain went to Rockport from Fort Bragg last Friday to nurse Mr. Croxford, who was seriously injured by a log falling on him. He was cross-cutting in the woods and was working at the lower side of the log when the cut was completed. It then rolled on him so suddenly that he was unable to get clear.

Old Pullen Home Burned

The old Charles Pullen home at Dark Gulch was burned about three weeks ago. The house had been unoccupied for a long time and had become a rendezvous for hoboes.

Accounts vary as to how the fire started, one being that it caught fire from burning trash and another that it was accidentally set fire by some hoboes who were occupying the premises.

The window frames and some of the ceiling had been removed for some time so that practically nothing remained but the shell.

Breaks Leg

Tom Ramus, former Mendocino resident, and well known on this coast, fell and broke his leg last week while employed as nightwatchman in the yard of the Union Lumber Company. Tom has been the victim of misfortune of late, having broken his arm last summer.

Auto Mishap

Sunday morning while driving in the vicinity of Pine Grove, the front axle of a Maxwell car driven by Jas. Todd, broke suddenly, letting the car down in the dirt. Fortunately he was driving at slow speed, which alone averted an accident. As it was, no damage was done and the car was towed to Mendocino for repairs.

Wendling Mill to Start

After a shut down of several months duration, the Navarro mill will start up again Monday, May 2, with a full force of men. During its period of idleness the entire plant and machinery has been given a thorough overhauling and the plant is now in good shape for a steady run. It is understood that Ed Freathy, the mill boss, is looking for some of his old hands back again.

Shingle Mill Busy

There is renewed activity at the shingle mill this week. With the advent of pleasant weather they can now get plenty of shingle bolts from the woods and in consequence the saws are humming quite steadily.

Installs Electric Unit

The Mendocino Lumber Company has this week completed the installation of an electric unit at the loading chute on the point. It is an 80 horsepower main motor and a 37 horsepower hoisting motor. Two auxiliary units have been installed, giving double speed and double power over the old system of loading boats.

J. STEWART CLARK RAIL FRANCHISES RECALLED

Information which may indicate the collapse of the recent railroad boom in Crescent City is contained in a story from that place which says that all options and franchises which J. Stewart Clark, railroad promoter, held on Crescent City streets and property, and all water front rights given to him by the board of trustees of Crescent City, were cancelled at a special meeting of the board held Thursday evening. Thursday evening marked the expiration of the six-month period granted Clark by the board of trustees, and none of the members thought the promoter had shown enough progress to warrant extending his options and rights of way.

Mr. Clark was not present at the meeting, but a letter received by the board after the meeting had adjourned, stated that he was making very satisfactory progress on the railroad promotion and that he expected to be in Crescent City in a short time.

Grants Pass at the same time cancelled all rights they had given Mr. Clark, so at the present time he has no rights or privileges on any of the right-of-way for the proposed railroad, at least so far as known.

FIRE ALARM BRINGS SOLONS OUT IN NIGHTIES

Senator Fred Handy of Ukiah was among the guests routed from bed at the Hotel Sacramento in the capital city early Monday morning by an alarm of fire. Dozens of legislators awakened from sound slumbers joined the night shirt parade into the halls of the building but upon being assured that there was no danger returned to their rooms. T. M. Wright, author of the state's dry act, is said to have been the first to disturb the stillness of the capitol night when he awoke and detected smoke. The fire proved to be only a smudge in the sample room.

"REDWOOD EMPIRE" IS NEW N. W. FERRY

"Redwood Empire" will be the name of the third of the new all-steel Dissel-electric ferry boats being completed by the Northwestern Pacific for its San Francisco-Sausalito service, it was announced in San Francisco yesterday by President W. S. Palmer of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad company. The vessel, a sister of the recently-launched "Santa Rosa" and "Mendocino," will be launched tomorrow at the ship yards of the Moore Dry Dock company, on Oakland estuary.

Miss Meredith Jean Vaughan of Alameda, seven-year-old granddaughter of President Palmer, will be sponsor at the launching.

Fifteen hundred invitations for the launching the being sent out by the railroad company and the Redwood Empire association. To take care of the guests, the steamer Tamalpais will leave Sausalito at 9:20 a. m., Saturday, stop at San Francisco, and leave there at 10 a. m. The "Redwood Empire" will slide into the bay at 10:30, the high tide stage.

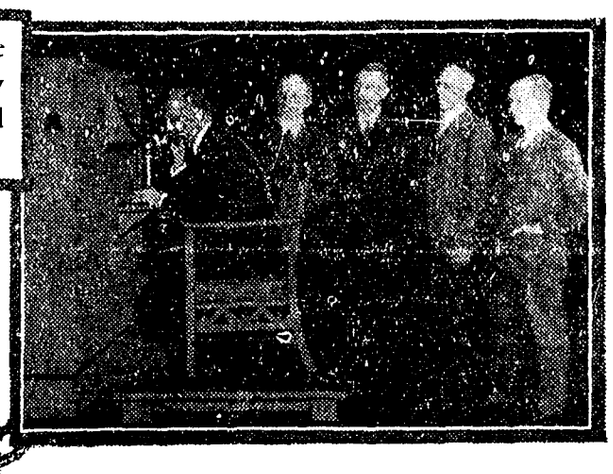
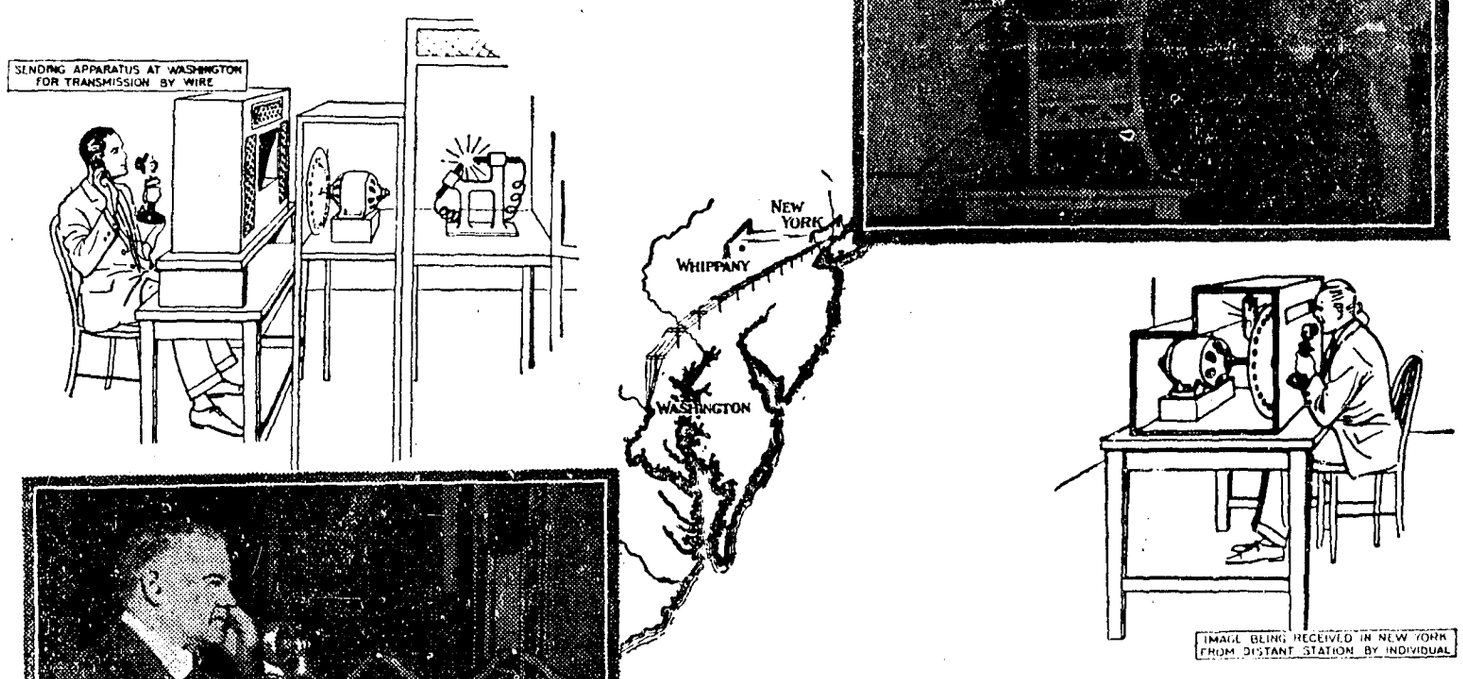
Secretary Hoover and Walter S. Gifford in First Public Demonstration of Television, Washington, New York



President Walter S. Gifford of American Telephone & Telegraph Company in New York sees Secretary Hoover at Washington as he talks with Mr. Gifford and members of Bell Laboratories.



Secretary Hoover talking from Washington over a telephone circuit is seen as well as heard by New York audience.

"Telephone With Eyes" Now Perfected by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Television over telephone circuits and by radio is the latest accomplishment of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Operation of wire and radio systems for television was demonstrated on the afternoon of April seventh in Bell Telephone Laboratories where they had been developed. Transmission was from Washington by wire and by radio from 3XN, the experimental radio station of Bell Telephone Laboratories, located at Whippany, New Jersey. Reception was in the auditorium of Bell Telephone Laboratories at 463 West Street, New York.

Formal demonstration of an operative system for television was given to members of the press and executives of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and Bell Telephone Laboratories in connection with a telephone conversation between Secretary Hoover at Washington and President Walter S. Gifford at New York.

Sees and Hears

The television apparatus, which Gifford used, permitted him to see as well as to hear Secretary Hoover, whose facial expressions as he took part in the telephone conversation were visible with distinctness. Following a short conversation Gifford asked Secretary Hoover to speak to the guests assembled with him at New York. Connections were then established with a larger form of television equipment which permitted all the assembled guests to view, on a screen on the stage of the auditorium, the face and expressions of Secretary Hoover as he talked.

Experts Talk

The demonstration, started at 2 p. m., was opened by President Gifford. He was followed by Dr. Frank B. Jewett, Vice President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in charge of development and research, and President of Bell Telephone Laboratories, and by Dr. Herbert E. Ives, a member of the technical staff of Bell Telephone Laboratories under whose research plans had been conducted the fundamental investigations and apparatus developments which resulted in television.

Dr. Ives described the apparatus for transmitting and that for receiving, using equipment which had been installed for that purpose at opposite ends of the auditorium. In this demonstration he was assisted by Dr. Frank Gray, also a member of the technical staff of the Laboratories, who had been responsible for several of the developments which made possible the complete operative system.

Demonstration Starts

Long distance connection was then established with Washington and President Gifford conversed with Secretary Hoover. In the receiving apparatus for television, before which Gifford seated himself for his conversation, there was a small rectangular opening through which he viewed Secretary Hoover whose facial expressions were visible with distinctness. Following a short conversation, Hoover addressed Gifford and the guests who were assembled with him. Switches were thrown to connect with a large screen set up before the guests on the stage of the auditorium and to connect the telephone circuit with a loud-speaking receiver. Secretary Hoover's face as he talked was thus made visible to the entire audience who received his words from the loud-speaking receiver.

Following this opening conversation the various guests at New York were put into connection for individual communication by telephone and television with the guests at Washington. Since receiving equipment was installed only at the New York terminal of the circuit those speaking at Washington did not see the persons at New York with whom they conversed although those at Washington were plainly visible from the New York end.

Studio Program Given

While this was going on engineers in charge of the demonstration got into connection with the Laboratories' radio station, 3XN, at Whippany, New Jersey, and announced that a short program of entertainment would be transmitted from that point by television and radio telephony. The large screen on the stage and its accompanying loud-speaker were then switched to the radio receiving-equipment and the attention of the audience turned to the stage. E. L. Nelson, a member of the technical staff of the laboratories in charge of the radio station at Whippany, then appeared before the audience and announced a short act of monologue and song which demonstrated the possibilities for transmitting by television a studio performance. By television, also, Mr. Olpin, another member of the technical staff, then appeared before the New York audience, announced the time by showing the face of a clock and signed off for the radio station.

Dream of Inventors

Television, the system which permits observing a distant scene with all its action, has been a dream of inventors almost since the invention of the telephone. General ideas as to possible methods for television have been proposed at various times, but despite all attempts to apply these commonly recognized ideas no practicable system, capable of meeting the severe requirement of transmitting visible images over long distances, was developed prior to this accomplishment by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company through its Bell Telephone Laboratories. An elaborate and highly coordinated series of researches was required in these Laboratories. Years were occupied by its scientists in this development of television, which was carried out as part of the general program of insuring the technical advance of the communication art which the American Telephone and Telegraph Company undertook as the corporate successor of Alexander Graham Bell.

That a method has been evolved was demonstrated by transmission from Washington to New York by wire and from Whippany to New York by radio. These distances over which transmission has been successful are sufficient to demonstrate the operativeness of the method over any distance. Distance has thus been eliminated from vision in a manner similar to that in which it has been eliminated from speech by telephone.

Distance Eliminated

Not until the completion by the Laboratories of the underlying researches and of careful tests of the apparatus, which had been designed on the basis of those researches, was transmission attempted over distances beyond the walls of the Laboratories. During the research experiments various stages of accomplishment were reached, however, which might seem to have justified publication; but publication was withheld as these stages were only steps in the broad research program. At an early point in the development, for example, there was accomplished the television of motion pictures. At the transmitting equipment light was projected through a motion picture film and at the receiving equipment the motion picture was recreated.

When according to the most conservative judgment of the scientists concerned and of the Laboratories' executives, the experiments had progressed far enough to assure operation over long distances both by wire and by radio, field experiments were undertaken and these resulted in successful television.

President Gifford Opens Demonstration

President Walter S. Gifford, in opening the Television demonstration on April 7, said:

"Today we are to witness another milestone in the conquest of nature by science. We shall see the fruition of years of study on the problem of seeing at a distance as though face to face. The principles underlying television, which are related to the principles involved in electrical transmission of speech, have been known for a long time but today we shall demonstrate its successful achievement. The elaborateness of the equipment required by the very nature of the undertaking precludes any present possibility of television being available in homes and offices generally. What its practical use may be I shall leave to your imagination. I am confident, however, that in many ways and in due time it will be found to add substantially to human comfort and happiness.

"It is our constant aim to furnish this country with the most complete telephone service possible. In connection with that aim, we endeavor to develop all forms of communication that might be supplemental to the telephone. With that in view, we shall continue our work on television which, although not directly a part of telephone communication, is closely allied to it."

Art of Television Is Explained in Detail

In the operation of television equipment the scene is viewed by a group of photoelectric eyes, large photoelectric cells which scan the scene point by point as each detail is illuminated by the sweeps of a narrow beam of powerful light. The cells respond to light by initiating electric currents; and these currents, highly amplified and properly conditioned, are then sent, over the telephone line or in the form of radio waves, to the distant receiving station. There the current varies the brightness of a light, or of a series of lights, causing the light to flash before the eyes of the observer. Of each detail of the scene the light and shadow is reproduced for the observer by a scynchronized flash of light. These flashes form a picture, taking the same relative positions as the details of the scene which the photoelectric eyes observed.

The entire scene towards which the transmitting equipment of television is directed is electrically observed by this equipment and transmitted and recreated at the distant receiving equipment in less than a fifteenth of a second. This operation of transmitting a scene and recreating it is a continuous process. After all the details of the scene have been transmitted the apparatus repeats the process. The result is that more than fifteen times a second there is recreated for the distant observer the same scene as his eye would have taken in if it had been placed in the location of the transmitting apparatus of the television equipment.

Problems of operating at the enormous speeds necessary to send, detail by detail, an entire scene in less than a fifteenth of a second required careful researches, the development of original apparatus and the construction of the largest photoelectric cells ever built. Because of the high speeds there were required not only light-sensitive and light-active apparatus of extreme sensitivity and refinement, and enormous amplification of the feeble electric current, but also an extraordinarily accurate system of synchronization. By this synchronizing apparatus the successive details of the scene are reproduced before an observer in about an eighteenth of a second with orderly arrangement and with an exactness of synchronization of about one hundred-thousandth of a second.

In one form of the receiving apparatus the observer looks through a rectangular aperture, about two inches by two and one-half; and through this he sees the scene which is viewed by the distant transmitting apparatus. In another form of receiving apparatus, which was developed for observation by an audience instead of by a single person, the observers look at a glass screen on which is reproduced instant by instant what is taking place before the distant transmitting apparatus.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED AT ST. FRANCIS HOTEL SATURDAY LAST

At a bride luncheon given Saturday afternoon at Hotel St. Francis in San Francisco in honor of her sister, Mrs. Hertha Lockswood of Los Angeles, Miss Elsa Lee Baumgartner of Santa Rosa announced her engagement to Grant Avery of Hopland.

The luncheon table was exquisitely decorated with spring blossoms. Besides the central decoration of choice blossoms, pansies and Cecil Breuner roses were arranged in circles at the four corners of the luncheon table. These proved to be made up of corsage bouquets which were presented to the guests after the luncheon. Each bouquet held in its heart the bethrothal cards.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Monday, April 25, Ukiah played the league championship baseball game with Fort Bragg. Fort Bragg won with a score of 9-2. The game was hard fought and our boys did splendid work, although on the losing end of the score. They deserve congratulations for the sportsmanlike fight they put up.

Miss Magill, the history and gym teacher, was very ill Wednesday morning, but is now back at school.

The student body held its regular monthly meeting at the third period Wednesday morning. Among the subjects discussed was the tennis team. It has been decided to establish such a team and those qualifying will be awarded a block U, provided that they shall have played in two tournaments with other schools.

The sophomore dance is to be the next party of the year. After that will come the freshman dance, and after that the senior banquet.

Mr. Bradshaw, the civics teacher, is confined to his bed this week because of rheumatism.

The marriage fever is spreading like poison oak through our "house of learning." There are seven brides in the school. The latest is Miss Frances Weselsky, a freshman. She and Lloyd Lynch were married a week ago Monday and are spending their honeymoon in the bay section.

Wednesday morning following the student body meeting the senior, sophomore and freshman class meetings were held. The freshmen appointed the various committees for their dance. The sophomores selected May 13 as the date for their dance.

We play baseball with Hopland this afternoon. Here's luck to our boys.

THRIFT DAY IN SCHOOL NOW WELL ESTABLISHED

Two Classes Make Records of One Hundred Per Cent and Win Silk Flags

"Save your pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves." This is what the State Department of Education is desirous of instilling in the young minds by establishing a school saving system in each community. In response to the appeal of the state department the local trustees have installed such a system in the grammar school.

In furtherance of the plan the superintendent of banks authorized the Savings Bank of Mendocino County to install the system, designating only one bank in order to avoid confusion. Deposits in this system may be withdrawn from time to time and deposited in any bank where the child may have an account.

The system was installed in the local school six weeks ago and is gaining favor rapidly. The first week, 118 children deposited $29; the following week, 225 deposited $39; the number has steadily increased till 343 deposited $76.11.

To stimulate interest the bank offered a thrift pennant to the class making the highest percent of deposits. This pennant could be held one week and had to be earned over again. Any class holding the pennant four successive weeks would receive a silk American flag.

The sixth grade under the inspiration of Miss Ada Banker led the school the first week and held the pennant. Determined that it could not be outdone the seventh grade under Mrs. Victor McClure made 100 percent deposits the second week. But Miss Banker's class made the same record and held the pennant until a flag was secured. Miss McClure's class has also secured a flag, making 100 percent deposits four consecutive weeks. Recognizing the interest being taken in the savings system the bank is considering giving a Bear flag or some other interesting reward should the pennant be earned a second time by any class.

A TWO BILLION DOLLAR DOCTORS' BILL

The United States sustains a tremendous economic loss each year due to sickness and death.

The average citizen loses about seven days each year due to sickness, which corresponds to a loss of two per cent. in useful industrial productivity—and to this must be added the cost of medical and hospital service, estimated at ten dollars per capita.

Avoid serious illness—with its resulting expense—by consulting your doctor before a disease becomes chronic, and by having a periodic health examination.

And, when illness does come, speed recovery by bringing your prescriptions here. Our laboratory is in charge of licensed pharmacists and your prescriptions will be compounded promptly, and exactly as the doctor ordered.

FIRE DESTROYS ANCIENT HOME NEAR PT. ARENA

Oil Company to Commence Drilling in May. Farm Center Holds Meeting

(Point Arena Record)

During the high wind Monday, about 11 o'clock, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Biaggi, near the Brush creek schoolhouse, was discovered afire and was soon burned to the ground.

Mrs. Biaggi was at home alone at the time, as her two children were away at school, and Mr. Biaggi was away at work at the other end of the ranch. When Mrs. Biaggi discovered that the house was afire, she did not lose her presence of mind, but went to the telephone and gave the alarm, calling up the near neighbors for help, and also Manchester and Point Arena, and when she left the telephone, sparks from the room above were dropping around about her.

The first to respond to her telephone call for help, was Mr. Mitchell and son, living on the Dr. Huntley ranch, who commenced removing things from the lower rooms of the house. Though help was arriving momentarily, the fire was gaining such headway that further entry in the building was unsafe. A piano, sewing machine and some pieces of furniture were saved, while everything in the kitchen and supper story of the building were burned.

The ranch home building was an early pioneer day one, built of finely hewed timber, and the surfaced material used in its construction was brought here by boat. At the time of erection, this section was under Spanish rule, and at that time it was classed as the first best ranch home built on the coast, and it has held its reputation for strength and rigidness to the day of its passing. The heavy earthquake in 1906 never phazed it. The time of its erection was so long ago, that none of our present day citizens remember the owner who owned or built it. The home stood on the top of a knoll, with no foliage intercepting the ocean view or forest-clad hills.

The loss of their home was an acute one to both Mr. and Mrs. Biaggi, especially the latter, who lost many mementos and keepsakes, the value of which cannot be measured in mo[illegible] A small insurance was carried [illegible] the house and contents.

The farm bureau center held a meeting at the Manchester schoolhouse the past week, and a large crowd gathered. Dan Jensen, chairman, called the meeting to order. County Farm Advisor Foot, of Ukiah, as speaker of the evening gave a very instructive talk which he illustrated with quite a number of picture slides. The high school glee club sang several selections which were received with much pleasure, and the young folks singers have the thanks of members of the center. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served, and the ladies deserve great credit for the way they handled the large crowd. Everyone seemed to enjoy themselves and now await the next center meeting.

From perfectly reliable source we learn that the "Point Arena Oil Corporation," recently formed by F. M. Kellerman, of Los Angeles, are steadily making every arrangement to enter this field to start oil development work here next month—in May. So sit easy. The oil is here, and also note the truth, that God took thousands of years time in its formation for our use, and the gentlemen will lift the lid that covers it when they start the drill forward.

Sales Sense

EXPERIENCED salesmen know that—measured against results—the incidental expense involved in "covering small towns off the beaten paths" often takes the profit out of a week's work.

The good will and sales value of regular contacts with customers wherever located, however, is generally recognized.

Most effective sales plans now include the regular use of Long Distance with substantial savings in both time and expense.

Even brief delay in travel is frequently turned to profitable account by alert salesmen through the use of Public Telephones—conveniently located everywhere.

In Memoriam

George Gowan was born in Oswego county, New York state, on May 19, 1843 and passed away at his home near Philo, Cal., on April 18, 1927, at the age of 83 years, ten months and 29 days. He was the second son of a family of nine children, his parents being of the hardy Irish New Englanders, his father living to the age of 86 and his mother 93 years of age.

He was educated in the grammar schools near his home and went to Michigan, where he worked his way through high school. (He joined teh Methodist church at the age of 16).

After finishing his course in high school he applied for and received a certificate to teach in the grammar school and for a number of years taught school in the winter and worked in the lumber mills in the summer, his first school being in Oakland county, Michigan.

While living in Flint, Michigan, he joined the Masonic lodge. At the beginning of the Civil war he enlisted in the 17th Michigan Regulars but did not get into active service.

In 1864, when he cast his first vote, he voted for Lincoln and throughout his life was a staunch supporter of the Republican party. He next moved to Illinois, where he continued teaching winters and working in the mills in summer, teaching one or two terms in Minnesota. At this time he was making his home in Rock Island, Ill., and working in the mills there in the summer, where his work as a mechanic and his ability to handle men attracted the attention of his employers and he was induced to give up teaching and accept a position of foreman in one of their mills, and was soon promoted to the position of superintendent of the three mills owned by the company in that city, a position he held for thirteen years. While here he succeeded in getting a number of patents on mill machinery, through the United States patent office, the most important of which was the chain for carrying lumber between various machines in the mill and which is used in nearly every mill today.

While in Rock Island he was a member of the state militia and was also a member of the board of aldermen of the city.

In 1884 he went to the newly formed Washburn county, Wisconsin, where he built a new mill for his Rock Island employers and was elected to the position of county supervisor of Washburn county and as chairman of the board took his share of the work of having the county courthouse and other county buildings erected.

In 1886 he came to California, where he continued for seven years in the lumber industry, first taking a contract to cut lumber at Jenner Gulch, Sonoma county, and the next year buying, with his brother, Jas. J. Gowan, the controlling interest in the Cotta Neva Lumber Co. at Rockport, in this county.

In 1893 he sold his interests and moved to Sherwood valley, where he farmed for two years. In 1895 he moved to Shelter Cove, Humboldt county, where he continued farming and in the summer of 1902 purchased his home in Anderson valley, where he moved in November, 1902, and has resided ever since and has taken an active interest in the community interests. Being always ready to spend some of his time for the community he has served as a leader in many of the new organizations, being first chairman of the local high school; the first chairman of the Anderson valley farm center; the first chairman of a local telephone company in Anderson valley; the first chairman of the chamber of commerce; and the chairman of the first two Liberty Loan drives here, and was always ready to subscribe to any benefit whether public or private.

He was twice married and is the father of ten children, all of whom are living.

He leaves to mourn his passing a wife, eight sons, and two daughters: Ernest A. Gowan, of Los Gatos; Hiram E. Gowan, of Ukiah; Mrs. Ada D. McKee, of Montague; Byron G. Gowan, of Philo; Judson H. Gowan, of Potter valley; Frank W. Gowan, of Ukiah; M. Cecil Gowan, of Philo; Mrs. A. Goldie Ward, of Philo; Edward H. Gowan, of Philo; Arthur Gowan, of Philo; nineteen grand children, one great grandson, three brothers—Robert B. Gowan, John M. Gowan and Joseph Gowan, and many nephews, nieces, and friends.

BOOZE RUNNERS CAUGHT

were ready to start in doing business. About 9:00 a. m. Deputy Sheriff McDaniels started out from the city jail with a prisoner he was transferring to the county jail at Ukiah. He stopped for a moment to talk with City Marshal J. Ruschetti, who had just emerged from the campgrounds where he had been noting the actions of Kavakka and Ganiz.

As the two officers conversed, looking down the street they observed Kavakka crossing the street with a suitcase. Ruschetti started toward the man, who, seeing him coming thrust the suitcase under the fence and started away at a rapid pace. The officer halted him, Deputy McDaniels came up, and upon investigation found that the suitcase contained 36 pint bottles of booze. McDaniels placed Kavakka under arrest, then, leaving the marshal in charge of the two prisoners, started to look further into matters, with the result that he discovered 53 other bottles of booze stowed under blankets in Ganiz' car.

Deputy Sheriff D. J. Brochier was called, and took charge of car and its cargo of booze, Ganiz having evidently made a quick getaway upon noting the apprehension of Kavakka.

Deputy McDaniels took Kavakka to Ukiah where, within five hours after his arrest, arraigned before Justice Hoffman, he plead guilty to pay a fine of $300 and to serve 150 days in the county jail.

Kavakka gave his residence as 656 60th St., Oakland. He states that he was born in Fort Bragg and lived here until he was nine years old.

The license certificate of Ganiz' car gives his address as 5615 Beaudry St., Oakland.

WILD FLOWER SHOW SUCCESS AT BOONVILLE

BOONVILLE, Apr. 25.—The Anderson valley wild flower show held in the large pavilion here ranked second only in attendance and enthusiasm among the visitors to the big apple show and fair of last fall. The exhibition of blossoms was sponsored by the Anderson Unity club, and competition for the prizes was keen among the union high school and several district schools. Carl Purdy, California's noted wild flower expert, gave a talk on the flowers of Anderson valley. The display not only included practically all the species of wild flowers in this vicinity but was artistically arranged.

Exhibits were presented by each of the following schools: Anderson, Con Creek, Indian Creek, Shields and the high school. A very unique booth was arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brown to represent the Unity club. This booth did not contest for the prizes.

Three small prizes in money were given. Indian Creek received the prize for the most artistic booth. For presenting the greatest variety of wild flowers in bloom at the present time, the Anderson school with 187 varieties was awarded first prize and Con Creek with 185 varieties received the second prize.

Mrs. Willis, on behalf of the Unity club social committee, wishes to thank all those who cooperated so splendidly in making the event a success.

COAST MAN INJURED IN TRAIN COLLISION

FORT BRAGG, Apr. 27.—Henry Sluyter started down from Camp 1 Monday, making the trip down the rails on a track bicycle. He was going at a rapid rate of speed, and rounding a sharp curve in the track came in collision with a logging train.

Brought in to the Redwood Coast hospital, Sluyter was found to have sustained a severe fracture of the skull, a shattered elbow, a fractured wrist, two broken ribs, and many minor contusions and bruises. Despite the serious nature of his hurts his condition was regarded as favorable this morning, it was learned upon inquiry at the hospital, and hope is entertained for his recovery.

E. J. SANFORD KILLED

have a gun. Immediately afterward she heard the shot and saw Weger come running back. He passed her house and ran on toward the Higgins place, with the rifle in his hand.

It is the theory of Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Sanford that he had the rifle hidden in his blankets at the side of the cabin, ran and got it when he saw Sanford standing in front of the cabin, poked it around the corner and pulled the trigger.

Weger's story at first was that he and Sanford had trouble that morning and that Sanford attacked him with a hoe. He stated that he ran into the cabin and grabbed the rifle and shot Sanford in self defense. He showed a bruise whiih he stated Sanford had inflicted with the hoe.

Coroner W. H. Ornbaun has a theory that Weger had the gun when Mrs. Mitchell first saw him, but she did not notice it, and that Weger ran into the barn when he passed from Mrs. Mitchell's view, and that the shot was fired from the barn. Ornbaun found one of the strands of chicken wire on the fence near where Sanford fell clipped as if by a bullet and states that there are shreds of lead on the wire. The break in the wire is on a line between where the body was found and the barn. It is reported that Weger himself said he fired the shot at the corner of the cabin and that he also made the statement when pressed with questions that Sanford did not hit him with the hoe but he was afraid that the latter would do so.

Edward J. Sanford was a native of Tennessee, where he was born September 28, 1867. He was a son of the late Rev. S. L. Sanford, a pioneer Baptist minister of northern California, who held pastorates at various times in Ukiah, Willits, Upper Lake, Lakeport and Potter valley. The family settled at Ukiah in the summer of 1882 and Edward had lived on the home ranch here continuously since that time, a period of forty-five years.

The deceased was prominent in the Eagles lodge, having been chaplain, vice-president, and worthy state president of that order, and had been a delegate several times from the local lodge to the state meetings of the order, and also delegate from the state to the national conventions of the order.

He was very fond of athletics and played professional baseball for over 25 years. It was in baseball circles that he won the nickname of "Chief," by which he was better known to his friends and acquaintances than by any other name.

He was married May 20, 1915, to Miss Mary Chalmers and the widow and five children survive, also two brothers, Ex-Senator J. B. Sanford of San Francisco and Oscar Sanford of Lakeport, and two sisters, Mrs. Presley McPeak, of Willits, and Mrs. Jack O'Rourke, of Seattle.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon at the Methodist church, Rev. Luther Beasley conducting the services. The ceremonies at the grave were in charge of the Eagles lodge.

All the relatives were present with the exception of Mrs. O'Rourke and Mrs. J. B. Sanford, both of whom are in poor health and unable to stand the trip to Ukiah.

The sincerest sympathy of the entire community goes out to the widow and children as well as to the brothers and sisters of the deceased in their terrible misfortune.
